

Allan R. Dameron

The Commission regrets the passing of Commission member and former Chairman Allan R. Dameron of Brunswick County.

During his seven years of service to the Commission, Allan was elected as Chairman in 2002 and again in 2003, the first time since 1977 that a Chairman had been reelected for two consecutive terms.

Allan's commitment to the work of the Commission and its role in the real estate industry was exceptional. The members and staff extend their sincere sympathy to his family and friends.

At its January meeting, the Real Estate Commission received the final report and recommendations from its Community Association Management Advisory Committee. The advisory committee was formed in response to the Commission's concern over the potential for financial loss to real estate consumers which could result from the mishandling of community association monies by unregulated persons.

The Commission noted that the amount of the money collected from homeowners for their association dues and fees can be substantial and that (other than real estate brokers) persons responsible for handling these monies are not licensed or regulated in any way. The Commission charged the advisory committee to recommend whether these persons should be credentialed and regulated; and if so, how.

The committee held five meetings. After finding that the demonstrated and potential harm to consumers from the improper handling of consumer association monies warrants governmental action, it recommended to the Real Estate Commission that the Commission support legislation to:

1. Require community associations (both self-managed and fee-managed) which exceed a certain size to register with and provide certain information to a state government agency;
2. Require persons (and firms) in the business of managing community associations to obtain a community association manager license from a state agency, including passing a licensing examination;
3. Require persons/entities responsible for handling and accounting for association funds to be bonded; and
4. Create a state government agency consisting primarily of community association managers to administer the licensing and registration programs.

The Commission approved in principal the recommendations submitted by the committee believing that they define a workable framework for a meaningful regulatory program. Legislation to implement the recommendations will hopefully be considered at the N.C. General Assembly's 2007 Session.

To assure that all perspectives and points of views were adequately represented, the Commission appointed to the committee community association managers (including a resort association manager), property managers, a builder/developer, a consumer protection attorney from the North Carolina Attorney General's Office, a representative of a firm that maintains data on North Carolina homeowner associations, and a professional staff member from the N.C. Association of REALTORS® representing the real estate brokerage industry.

The members were Dennis Abbott (Charlotte), Commission Vice Chair Skip Alston (Greensboro), Robert Hecht (Denver), Henry Jones, Jr. (Raleigh), Robert Lawing (Charlotte), Jim Laumann (Morrisville), John Lawton (Raleigh), Ted Nye (Banner Elk), John Stone (Pinehurst), Associate Attorney General Harriet Worley (Raleigh), and N.C. Association of REALTORS® Director of Regulatory Affairs Rick Zechini.

The Commission expressed its appreciation to the members of the Community Association Management Advisory Committee for their efforts in addressing this timely and important issue, and to Executive Director Fisher who facilitated the committee's discussions; Legal Counsels Tom Miller and Miriam Baer; Directors Larry Outlaw, Emmet Wood and Fran Whitley; and Chief Deputy Legal Counsel Janet Thoren who served as Commission staff advisors to the committee.

To view the committee's final report in its entirety, go to the Commission's website, www.ncrec.state.nc.us (Site Map, Reports).

Broker-in-Charge Annual Review Focuses on Agency, Disclosure

Effective July 1, 2006, most, if not all, brokers-in-charge must take the new Broker-in-Charge Annual Review Course each year in order to remain a broker-in-charge.

The Broker-in-Charge Annual Review is a four-hour elective written by the Commission each year, but taught by the Commission's approved Update course instructors. All brokers who were designated as a broker-in-charge prior to July 1, 2006 must take the 2006-2007 BIC Annual Review course prior to June 10, 2007.

Only brokers who are, in fact, brokers-in-charge should register for the BICAR course. A list of sponsors teaching the BIC Annual Review course can be found on the Commission's website under "Continuing Education" and then click on "Schedule." To register, the broker should contact the sponsor directly.

The 2007-2008 Broker-in-Charge Annual Review course will focus on agency and include discussion of the common law of agency, historical background, requirements of the Commission rules and their implementation in daily brokerage practice. Topics will include the use of the Working with Real Estate Agents brochure, written agency agreements, dual agency and designated agency.

A broker-in-charge who is required to, but fails to take the BIC Annual Review course by June 10 in any given year, will be removed as broker-in-charge the following July 1. While perhaps able to

Postlicensing Education and Broker Transition Guidelines

As thousands of “provisional” brokers near their first deadline for obtaining required postlicensing education, this primer is provided to remind all provisional brokers about their postlicensing education and broker transition requirements. The information is organized into sections for Resident Provisional Brokers and Nonresident Provisional Brokers, and then further organized by license status as shown on licensees’ pocket cards. If you are a provisional broker, check your license status on your pocket card and then locate the information below that applies to you. You should also read the Special Notes section.

Resident Provisional Brokers

PB Status:	Initially licensed as a “provisional” broker on or after April 1, 2006 .
Requirement:	You must complete 90 hours of postlicensing education in the first three years after initial licensure (minimum of one (1) 30-hour postlicensing course each year by the anniversary date of your initial license issuance).
Anniversary Dates:	Your annual anniversary (deadline) date for postlicensing education differs from other important dates that affect your license. License Renewal: June 30 Annually CE Deadline: June 10 Annually Postlicensing Education Deadline: 1st Deadline, 1 Year After Initial Licensure 2nd Deadline, 2 Years After Initial Licensure 3rd Deadline, 3 Years After Initial Licensure (Refer to wall license certificate for “Initial Licensure Date”)

Examples of Postlicensing Education Deadline Dates
License Issuance Date	Anniversary Dates for Postlicensing Education
May 15, 2006	May 15, 2007, 2008 and 2009
July 20, 2006	July 20, 2007, 2008 and 2009
October 30, 2006	October 30, 2007, 2008 and 2009

Additional Information About Courses:

•	The three postlicensing courses are: Broker Relationships and Responsibilities; Contracts and Closing; and Selected Topics .
•	You must complete all three 30-hour postlicensing courses (90 hours) within three (3) years of your initial licensure in order to terminate the “provisional” status of your broker license and to avoid cancellation of your broker license.
•	You may take all three courses during the first or second year after initial licensure and the “provisional” status of your license will be removed upon their completion.
•	Postlicensing courses may be taken in any sequence.
•	The courses are offered by the same schools that conduct the prelicensing course. [School list is available on the Commission’s website.]
•	Schools will report your course completion to the Commission. Do NOT submit course completion certificates to the Commission unless specifically requested.
•	You must pass the course final examination to pass the course.
•	You will receive no CE credit for a postlicensing course. You must also complete required CE courses prior to the second renewal of your license.

Consequences of Noncompliance: Failure to complete required postlicensing education for either the first or second year after license issuance will result in your license being made inactive. You would have to take the missed course (and make up any CE deficiency) to be eligible to reactivate. Failure to complete all three postlicensing courses by the end of the third year will result in your license being canceled. You would have to take the missed course and meet substantial additional requirements established by the Commission to reinstate your license.

PB9 Status:	Initially licensed as a salesperson between October 1, 2005 and March 31, 2006 and converted to "provisional" broker on PB9 status on April 1, 2006 .
Requirement:	See above information for PB Status. The postlicensing education requirement is exactly the same as for provisional brokers with PB status EXCEPT that a PB9 provisional broker has a fixed annual deadline date of April 1 for completion of postlicensing courses. Thus, the deadline dates for course completion for a provisional broker with PB9 status are April 1 of 2007, 2008 and 2009 . Course and other information is the same as shown above for PB status.

PBT Status:	Initially licensed as a salesperson before October 1, 2005 and converted to "provisional" broker on PBT status on April 1, 2006 .
Requirement:	You must satisfy one of the two broker transition options described below to terminate the "provisional" status of your broker license by the fixed deadline date of April 1, 2008 . No exceptions for any reason! If you are on PBT status, your options are:

Option #1: Complete the 24-hour Broker Transition Course.

•	The course is offered by CE Update course sponsors. [See the CE course schedule under "Continuing Education" on the Commission's website for scheduled courses.]
•	There is no end-of-course examination.
•	You will receive CE elective course credit in the license year in which the course is completed.
•	The course sponsor will report course completion to the Commission. Do NOT submit course completion certificates to the Commission unless specifically requested.
•	The course will only be available until April 1, 2008.

Option #2: Certify to the Commission that you have at least four (4) years full-time (or part-time equivalent) brokerage experience within the six (6) years preceding the date of experience certification.

•	Your qualifying experience must have been obtained in North Carolina or another state while your license was on active status and may only include licensed brokerage activities for which a real estate license is required (listing, selling, purchasing, leasing or renting real estate for others for a fee). Experience as a licensed real estate assistant is also acceptable, but experience as a secretary, bookkeeper or manager of a real estate office, or as a leasing agent performing acts exempt from licensure, is NOT acceptable, even if you were licensed at the time.
•	Full-time experience means 40 hours of work per week and 2000 hours per year.
•	No preliminary opinions will be offered by Commission staff concerning appropriateness of experience.
•	Certification may be completed online through the Commission's website.
•	The Commission will "spot check" experience certifications as well as check those that appear questionable.
•	If you are not certain that you possess the necessary experience and can document such experience if requested, take the Broker Transition Course .

Consequences of Noncompliance: If you are currently active, your license will be made inactive on April 1, 2008 and you will be required to complete all three 30-hour postlicensing courses plus any required CE to reactivate your license and terminate its provisional status.

Nonresident Provisional Brokers

The postlicensing education and broker transition requirements for nonresident provisional brokers (PB, PB9 and PBT status) are the same as shown above for resident provisional brokers. Nonresident provisional brokers should read the information provided for resident provisional brokers having the same license status category. There are, however, some additional options for nonresidents to satisfy the education options and a couple of other differences as noted below. Nonresident provisional brokers who qualify for the experience option described for resident provisional brokers on PBT status may certify their experience in the manner described for such resident provisional brokers.

Options for Nonresidents to Satisfy Education Requirements

Since the Broker Transition Course and the postlicensing courses are only available as live instruction courses in North Carolina, it may not be feasible for most nonresident provisional brokers to come to North Carolina and take these courses. Consequently, the Commission has created some alternative options for fulfilling these education requirements. [NOTE: Options 2 and 3 are not available to North Carolina resident provisional brokers.]

Option #1: Complete the postlicensing courses (PB or PB9) or Broker Transition Course (PBT) in North Carolina.

Option #2: Complete “equivalent” education in another state (PB, PB9 or PBT).

•	Licensees on PB or PB9 status must take 90 hours of education in the first three years after initial licensure (minimum of 30 hours each year by the appropriate anniversary or deadline date).
•	Licensees on PBT status needing to satisfy the education option must take 24 hours of education by April 1, 2008.
•	Courses may include postlicensing education, broker prelicensing education, or CE.
•	Courses may be any length. Credit will be awarded for hours completed.
•	Courses must be approved by the real estate licensing agency in the other state.
•	Postlicensing or broker prelicensing courses must have been taken within three (3) years prior to seeking credit for them.
•	Continuing education must have been completed during the same one-year period following initial licensure for which credit is sought (between April 1, 2006 and April 1, 2008 for equivalent Broker Transition Course credit) and must be taken in addition to any courses required to satisfy the licensee’s CE requirement in his/her state of residence.
•	Licensee must submit copies of course completion certificates along with a letter including name and NC license number and requesting equivalent education credit to the Commission, Attention: Postlicensing Education Credit.

Option #3: Obtain a broker license in another state (PB, PB9 or PBT).

•	Submit certification of license history showing broker licensure from appropriate state, along with letter including name and NC license number to the Commission, Attention: Postlicensing Education Credit.

Special Notes for All Provisional Brokers

•	Termination of Provisional Status. All individual license certificates now indicate that the licensee is a “broker.” Status as a PB, PB9 or PBT appears only on license pocket cards. When a broker’s “provisional” status is terminated upon completion of required education (or demonstration of other permitted qualifications), the broker will automatically be sent a new pocket card, but not a new license certificate. The license number will remain the same.
•	Reminder Notice. Provisional brokers will be sent one postlicensing education reminder notice approximately 90 days before their anniversary or deadline date. Do not wait until the last minute to obtain needed education!

Penalties for violations of the Real Estate Law and Commission rules vary depending upon the particular facts and circumstances present in each case. Due to space limitations in the Bulletin, a complete description of such facts cannot be reported in the following Disciplinary Action summaries.

MARIA B. ALLEN (Elizabeth, New Jersey) – By Consent, the Commission suspended the broker license of Ms. Allen for a period of three years effective November 20, 2006. Six months of the suspension are to be active with the remainder stayed for a probationary period of 30 months. The Commission found that Ms. Allen was convicted of Conspiracy to Distribute and Possess With Intent to Distribute Cocaine in federal district court in the year 2000 and failed the report the conviction within 60 days of final judgment as required by Commission rule. The Commission noted that Ms. Allen reported the conviction in 2006 of her own volition.

DEMONTE C. ALLEYNE (Charlotte) – The Commission revoked the broker license of Mr. Alleyne effective September 29, 2006. The Commission found that Mr. Alleyne, acting as a dual agent for property owners and buyers in a transaction, prepared contracts for a lease/option agreement in an incomplete manner, violating the specific use instructions for the various contract forms he used, and engaging in the unauthorized practice of law; failed to enter in a written buyers agency agreement and failed to present the Working With Real Estate Agents brochure to either party; failed to create and maintain records relevant to the transaction and produce them at the request of Commission staff; and, while representing that he was depositing funds into his trust account, converted $4,700 paid by the buyers to his own use.

DARYL H. BAKER (Charlotte) – By Consent, the Commission revoked the broker license of Mr. Baker effective October 1, 2006. The Commission found that Mr. Baker paid unlicensed individuals and firms for procuring buyers for properties for sale and for procuring tenants for properties belong to his investor clients. The Commission also found that Mr. Baker collected and held earnest money deposits, rents, appraisal fee monies, and tenant security deposits belonging to his clients and customers, but did not deposit these monies in a trust account or safeguard them in accordance with Commission rules.

SHARON O. BARNHARDT (Charlotte) – By Consent, the Commission suspended the broker license of Ms. Barnhardt for a period of six months effective July 1, 2006. The Commission then stayed the suspension for a probationary period of one year. The Commission found that Ms. Barnhardt listed and advertised a property as having 2,065 heated square feet when, in fact, the property had 1,766 heated square feet and 245 unheated square feet.

LOIS W. BLACK (Wadesboro) – By Consent, the Commission suspended the broker license of Ms. Black for a period of six months effective December 1, 2006. One month of the suspension was active with the remainder stayed for a probationary period of six months. The Commission found that Ms. Black served as listing agent for several properties where the purchase prices were inflated from the listing price after contract, while the seller received only the original list price, and failed to adequately review closing statements and contracts relating to the properties to the detriment of both sellers and buyers.

MICHAEL J. BONZAK (Hampstead) – By Consent, the Commission suspended the broker license of Mr. Bonzak for a period of 60 days effective March 1, 2007. The Commission then stayed the suspension for a probationary period of one year. The Commission found that Mr. Bonzak, as broker-in-charge of a real estate brokerage firm, made no effort to oversee trust account procedures: transactions were not recorded with required information, journals did not include running balances and accounts were interest-bearing without proper authority.

LEX I. CARROLL (Kill Devil Hills) – By Consent, the Commission suspended the broker license of Mr. Carroll for a period of two years effective December 1, 2006. One year of the suspension is to be active with the remainder stayed. The Commission also found that Mr. Carter did not obtain written management contracts for rental properties managed on others' behalf. Mr. Carter neither admitted nor denied the Commission's findings.

RACHAEL DOMINESSY (Swansboro) – By Consent, the Commission revoked the broker license of Ms. Dominessy effective October 1, 2006. The Commission noted that the purchasers were paid $120,827.16 in compensation relating to the condition of the residence and associated fees, costs and expenses. Ms. McClure neither admitted nor denied the Commission's findings and conclusions.

One year of the suspension was active, with the remainder stayed for a probationary period of one year on certain conditions. The Commission found that during 1998, Ms. Salomon entered into an agreement with an investor to transfer real property into a corporation in which the investor would have a 50% interest, in exchange for a capital contribution to a proposed business venture. The Commission found that the investor made the capital contribution but that Ms. Salomon did not convey the property as she had promised, and instead conveyed it to her in-laws. The Commission also found that the investor sued Ms. Salomon, and the court set aside the conveyance as fraudulent.

The Commission noted that Mr. Thomas disclosed them on his 2005 broker license application.

ROBERT A. VOLLES (Charlotte) – By Consent, the Commission permanently revoked the broker license of Mr. Volles effective January 10, 2007. The Commission found that Mr. Volles, as broker-in-charge in 2003 of a real estate brokerage firm, failed to supervise a salesperson associated with the firm who paid unlicensed individuals for procuring buyers for property and failed to deposit client funds into the firm's escrow account and instead deposited them into his personal account. The Commission also found that Mr. Volles, as broker-in-charge in 2001 of a home building firm, participated in a transaction in which the closing statement indicated that the firm provided the buyer with owner financing in the amount of $100,000, when, in fact, the firm did not provide any financing. The Commission further found that, approximately one year after closing, Mr. Volles certified to the Mecklenberg County Register of Deeds that the buyer had repaid the owner financing in full, a statement which was false. Finally, the Commission found that Mr. Volles was broker-in-charge of a real estate brokerage firm from November 2002 to June 30, 2006, and Mr. Volles failed to produce transaction and trust account records when requested to do so by the Commission.

VERNIECEE WHITAKER (Winston-Salem) – The Commission revoked

the broker license of Ms. Whitaker effective January 11, 2007. The Commission found that Ms. Whitaker, acting as a buyer's agent, communicated to her buyer that the buyer's offer to purchase a newly constructed house had been accepted by the seller when it had not, and provided the buyer with the keys from the lockbox, when no such authorization had been granted. The Commission also found that Ms. Whitaker faxed a forged contract to her broker-in-charge using a copy of the seller's signature from another contract and, when asked to provide the original documents, eventually admitted there were none. The Commission noted that Ms. Whitaker's firm reimbursed the buyer's earnest money and moving expenses.
